About the Stained Glass Association of America Foundation:

The Stained Glass Association of America Foundation's (SGAAF) mission is to inspire a new generation of artisans and stewards in all that stained glass can be. Our work focuses on supporting emerging artists and fostering new, diverse voices for the industry. Our work with the 120-year-old Stained Glass Association of America supports the education of stewards and caretakers who are tasked with maintaining and restoring our nation's living museum of architectural art glass treasures. The SGAA & SGAAF national headquarters are in Buffalo, NY, in Trinity Buffalo.

Through curated lectures from designers, in our stained glass-making workshops, and with the help of our scholarships, the Stained Glass Foundation works to empower the mentors and artisans of today, lighting the way for a new generation of tradespeople and makers in our craft!
